North Hedges Hall, Montana State University; Bozeman, Montana

Challenges?

- Reduce the time it takes to create a daily report.
- Eliminate transferring hand-written notes into daily reports.
- Quickly and easily update the report throughout the day.
- Collect and record key project data.
- Produce detailed and professional reports.

Results?

- On average, daily report creation requires 50% less time.

- It's easy to log daily project statuses, project issues, safety concerns, equipment lists, subcontractors' headcounts, and more.
- Integration with other project information streamlines everything from the logging of personnel to field notes.
- Report corrections and redistributions are easy, even when the report has been finalized.
